LYNDON. Another Sudden Death.

Quickly following the death of Lacome at Specowell Farms a week ago Sunday from wood alcohol poisoning, comes another in this place, apparently from the same cause. Spencer Giroux, a painter, about 30 years old, employed in Grant's paint shop at Hadleyville, was found dead last Wednesday morning. He was at work slone during the day Tuesday and Mrs. Grant, happening to go in dur-ing the day, noticed that he appeared ill. She advised him to lock up the shop and go home. As he did not arrive at home at Lyndonville at the usual time his wife became alarmed and went down to the shop but found it locked and thought be had gone away. John Bradshaw went to the shop the next morning about 6 o'clock and stumbled over the dead body or Giroux which lay near the stove, and an examination revealed the fact that he must have been dead several hours. Giroux was married five months ago and came from Lennoxville.

Boston Herald. We presume that there are some peop'e in New England who do not see The Boston Heral I from day to day, or from Sunday to Sunday. It should be a matter of regret, however, that so good a newspaper is not a part of the reading matter which finds its way into the family of every intelligent citizen of New England. The character of the paper is such as to commend itself to people of refinement and culture-a really high class publication. In its editorial page are discussed all the topics of the day. Its new pages teem with the latest stories of the world's doings. Its department experts contribute the brightest thought in special lines. The Boston Herald is also an illustrated newspaper -in the true sense of the word, in contradistinction to the paper with pic-tures. There never has been so good a newspaper in New England as the Bos ton Herald, and no New England home should be without it. PASSUMPSIC Thanksgiving Social.

The attendance upon the social given at the vestry Thanksgiving evening was the largest in a long time, so large as to make it necessary to open the main audience room. After the people were gathered, pastor Meacham offered prayer, the company sang America after which Rev. E D. Mason, in behalt of the assembled company, presented to Rev. Mr. Meacham a very nice fur overcoat. Mr. Mason's remarks were very timely and excellent and expressed in well chosen words the appreciation and af fection of the community for the pastor. Mr. Meacham was taken completely by surprise, but his reply was given in his usual happy manner. After the presentation, the chairman appounced that the supper was to be what is known as a conundrum supper, and explained the nature of it. The reading of the conundrums and their answers caused much merriment, as well as the ordering from bills of fare also in conundrums. Altogether the affair was one of the pleasantest held for a considerable time.

Wedding Anniversary.

forty-third wedging anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Stevens was celebrated at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Willis Barker Saturday December 1st. The piazzas were illumnated with Chinese lanterns and every room in the house brightly lighted thus presenting a cheering appearance when the guests arrived. It was a very nice home party and greatly enjoyed by all present. Rev. C. D. R. Meacham, in his happy manner presented the gifts which consisted of a center table and rocker of antique oak and a heautiful parlor lamp also numerous other articles from individual friends. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens both responded to the presentation showing by their remarks how deeply grateful they felt to their friends for the good will and generosity they had shown. Cake and coffee were served and the evening spent in a pleasant social way and made more enjoyable by the music both vocal and instrumental The bridegroom handled the bow in a manner which almost deceived those present into thinking it his first rather than the 43rd anniversary of his wedding. A poem written by Mrs. Barker or the occasion, was read by Mrs. Meach am. Among others from out of town were several triends and neighbors from Danville and St. Johnsbury. The guests left at a late honr with the wish that they might be present to help celebrate their golden wedding.

ment of Insurance. Commissioner J. A. O'Shaughnessy of the Insurance Department of the State of Minnesota has just completed a thorough and critical examination of the condition and affairs of the National Life Insurance Company of Mostpelier, Vt. This examination, covering every detail of the large business done by the company, required five months for its completion and is the first examination of the company, made by an outside department, in its history of fifty years. The company, it is understood, invited a joint examination of its affairs by three states, but the Minnesota department concluded to proceed alone.

The report of the examiners shows that the company has, under the methods of accounting and valuation adopted by the department, total admitted assets of $17,571,586.43, total liabilities on policy-holders' account of $16,109,095,-98, and a total surplus and undiscributed profits, over all liabilities, of $1,462, 490 45, a not material contraction. The business in force, as of December 31, 1899, distributed through thirty-one states, was found to equal 46 116 policies, representing $89,890,026.27 of in-

This critical examination merely serves to sustain the old reputation of the National for perfect solvency and for efficient life insurance work. Up to December 1, 1900, this company has issued $14,753,526 00 of new insurance and bids fair to complete the most prosperous year in its history.

In course of the examination, the receipts and outgo for 1899 were carefully checked up. They amounted, together, to over seven millions of transactions in a single year, but no change was made in these accounts, everything being found in proper shape The company is congratulated upon its mortality experience, as demonstrating a conservative and careful selection of risks. The account of surrendered policies was found wholly free from discrimination, white death claims are reported as being promptly paid and in full. All the records of the company were found in excellent shape. The company is further reported as being economically and efficiently managed with regard to the interests of the policy-holders.

Baking Powder

Our country is enjoying prosperity almost unsurpassed in its history.

For every one there is money enough to buy that to eat which is pure, sound, good, wholesome.

Why should we use cheap, impure, unhealthful articles of food? There is no economy in them; they endanger the health, they may cost life. There are reported almost daily cases of sickness caused by eating cake, puddings or biscuit made with the cheap, alum baking powders.

In all articles for food buy and use only the best. The good health of the family is of first consideration.

> Alum is used in many baking powders because it makes them cheap. It costs less than two cents a pound. Alum is a corrosive poison. Think of feeding it to children! Yet the manufacturers of well-known alum powders are actually denying that their goods contain it.
